December is a time for ...

Joy and Happiness!

Miss Emma At MoMA By Alonzo Jennings

Why is this lady happy?

Winter and the holidays are upon us. SJCC wants to ease the seasonal stress with our annual holiday party and 2 open competitions. That's right, no theme this month. A stress-free December makes Miss Emma and all SJCC members happy.

Winter photography tip: Know Before You Go. If you plan to photograph outside this winter, it's a good idea to plan what you are going to do beforehand. Scout your locations in advance and figure out where the best photographs are. That way you are not wandering around trying to make creative decisions in the freezing cold.

For the most current listing of our meetings and activities, visit our website, but here's what's coming up in this month and beyond:

Coming up this Month

SJCC Holiday Party: Thursday, December 12, 7pm

Time to get to know each other and share some treats!

Instead of a presentation this month, we are having our annual SJCC holiday party. We ask that everyone bring a dessert or finger food to share with your fellow photographers.

Competition Night: Tuesday, December 17, 7pm

Judge: Al Brown

- Digital: Open
- Monochrome Prints: Open

Workshop: Our December printing workshop had to be postponed. We are working on rescheduling and will announce new dates when confirmed.

January 18 is our Hands-on Macro with Bonnie Rovere and Kacey Rovere-Avril. Bring your camera and tripod (or Point & Shoot that does Macro) and learn how to create wonderful images. Let's have some fun! We will have many stations set up for your convenience. Limited registration. First come first served.

Take The Field Trip Survey

We are restructuring our club field trips and are forming a committee to find the best locations and people to lead the trips. You can help by taking the first ever SJCC Field Trip survey.

Where's the Pano Contest?

In our effort to have a stress free SJCC holiday season, we're moving the annual Panorama print contest to the February 18, 2020 competition meeting. These panos can be monochrome or color prints. The long side has to be at least 2 times the size as the short edge.

Check out our photo gallery

Every month our top scoring photographs are place in an online gallery on our website. If you haven't seen them yet, take a look.

Looking forward to seeing you all soon!
